SHELLS SMASHED BOATS ON DECK OF ANCONA

Submarine Did Not Give Time for Passengers To Leave Ship

MANY DEATHS DUE TO PANIC

Boats Overturned Before They Could Be Lowered and Occupants Drowned.

London, via Malta, Nov. 12.—The Italian liner Ancona, sunk by a submarine in the Mediterranean with a loss of a number of American lives reported, was not sent to the bottom without warning, according to accounts of some survivors. The Austrian submarine which had been pursuing the liner gave a brief time for the removal of the passengers. The loss of many lives on the Ancona is declared to have been due to a panic among the passengers caused by the sight of the submarine, and to the fact, it is alleged, that the undersea boat fired repeated shots for and aft of the liner as the passengers were taking to the boats.

A news agency dispatch from Tunis on the other hand, declares that the commander of the Ancona asserts the submarine gave the liner no signal to stop. He insists the vessel was shelled first from a distance of five miles, and that she stopped. Subsequently, he declares, shells hit the boats into which passengers were being loaded, many passengers being killed or wounded on deck and in the boats. Other accounts from Tunis declare two submarines took part in the attack on the Ancona and that she made no attempt to escape one of the undersea craft heading her off.

Figures secured by the American consul at Naples and cabled to Washington show that 347 were saved, out of 496 on board the Ancona, leaving 149 to be accounted for. Some of these, it is believed, will be reported saved.

A Stefani news agency dispatch from Tunis says: "The commander of the Ancona who reached here Thursday (7) declares the submarine gave his vessel no signal to stop. The first sign of the presence of the submarine was shells from a distance of five miles which grazed the steamer. The Ancona stopped dead."

"Subsequently shells hit the boats which were being made ready for launching, and many passengers were killed or wounded on the deck and in the boats. Some of the passengers who had been thrown into the water approached the submarine, but were repelled and derided. Finally shells and torpedoes were fired at the Ancona from a distance of 300 yards."

The Italian steamer Ancona was not sunk without warning, according to information obtained from passengers landed at Malta by the Renter cor respondent and cabled to London. The Austrian submarine which overhauled her after a long, stern chase, gave the commander a brief respite to permit the removal of passengers, but the indescribable panic which began among the immigrants on board as soon as the underwater craft was sighted, was responsible for the loss of many lives. In the mad rush for safety, men, women and children overwhelmed the boats, several of which were overturned before they could be lowered. Many of the occupants fell into the sea and were drowned.

Passengers agree, the correspondent says, that shots fired around the steamer by the submarine, apparently to hasten the loading of the boats, added to the panic.

GOOD ROAD WORK

South Street Highway to State Line Finished in Seven Weeks.

With the recent completion of about a half mile of graded roadway at the end of South street, the final lap was finished in the first highway which gives a continuous good road from the village to the town line.

Work on the final stretch was begun in early September under the direction of John Harwood and the building of the half-mile lap consumed about seven weeks. South street from the top of the hill being closed during the construction and tourists detoured down Weeks street and up Putnam to the old Pownal road.

While it is regrettable that South street could not be put in similar condition this year, and thus have one fine highway from Putnam Square through to the Pownal line, nevertheless the most traveled auto road out of Bennington now has an even grade and good wearing surface, and a work which has been in progress for several years stands completed. If the state highway from Bennington to Brattleboro is realized the work just finished will be of double value, for Massachusetts tourists passing through southern Vermont will use the south road to get to the new cross-state highway even more than in past seasons.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

Prominent Massachusetts Attorney Speaks Tomorrow Afternoon

The Fortnightly club will present to the community a gifted lecturer in Judge George D. Alden of Massachusetts. He comes to us most highly recommended as one, combining the serious and the humorous in a delightful manner. He is said to be a coiner of phrases and epigrams rather than set pictures of speech and because of this he stimulates and does not cloy.

Containing that personal righteousness is the real foundation of civic virtue, he has an individual as well as social message that it will profit us to hear.

With a true community spirit the club invites all its friends to High School Hall on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock to listen to Judge Alden. This lecture is for the community upon a timely subject, "The Needs of the Hour." Men and women are invited gratis and each club member may bring a guest free of charge. It is hoped that the hall will be filled.

RURAL BETTERMENT

Prof. W. J. Campbell to Speak at Y. M. C. A. Sunday.

Prof. W. J. Campbell, who is to speak at the community service in the Congregational church Sunday evening, is the professor in charge of rural leadership training at the Springfield Y. M. C. A. college. He is a man of wide experience and rational vision. A university graduate, he has worked out his rural facts in the fields with the people who live on the land, first as a country minister, then as a rural secretary in the Young Men's Christian association, later as a state secretary for rural work and now as the professor in charge of rural leadership training.

Professor Campbell's book, "Vital Problems in Rural Leadership," which appeared last summer is a concise and constructive study of human values in country life, by a man who has a rational vision of a better country. He does not pretend to offer any sure cure for rural blues or a certain antidote for rural depletion. He proposes to let the city keep on growing, and he keeps sweet about it! But he does propose some very reasonable and definite means for developing better health and happiness, better schools and churches, better social life and neighborliness, which will make country life more satisfying and worth while. Sunday being World Y. M. C. A. Sunday Professor Campbell will speak on Y. M. C. A. work.

FIGHTING IN NEAR EAST REACHES BULGAR SOIL

Anglo-French Have Pushed Across Serbian Border

GREEK PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED

King Constantine Throws Down Gauntlet of Battle and Calls Election December 19.

Budapest, Nov. 11.—The Bulgarians are strenuously resisting the Anglo-French advance near Voles in southern Serbia and also southeast of Strumitza on the Bulgar side of the frontier.

London, Nov. 11.—King Constantine has at last thrown down the gauntlet to the war party led by former premier Venizelos. Parliament has been dissolved and an election has been called for December 19.

London, Friday, Nov. 12.—The Serbians are now facing the invaders in the mountains which have proved a protection to them in their previous war, and they are expected to make the advance of the Austro-Germans and Bulgarians a matter of some difficulty.

There has been no material change in the situation during the last twenty-four hours. The Austro-Germans claim to be advancing along the line west of Nish; do not report the capture of any further positions. The 4,000 prisoners they have taken are said by the Serbs to be largely civilians or Albanian or Macedonian troops. Like those reported captured previously. These, they say, surrendered easily. It is also declared that the guns abandoned in the captured cities are mostly obsolete relics of former wars.

It is probable that the opposition the Austrians are meeting in their efforts to drive the Montenegrins back is delaying Field Marshal von Mackensen's army, for the right wing must be free from this menace before it can proceed with its drive.

The news from the southern part of the country is very conflicting. It is not known that the French did not recapture, but simply made a cavalry raid into the town of Voves, destroying the Bulgarian ammunition stores. The French, however, are advancing on the west side of the Vardar River and at the same time are repelling Bulgarian attacks on Krivolak and endeavoring to form a junction with the Serbians who are holding the Babuna Pass.

A new British division having landed, the force which is to be under command of General Sir Charles Carmichael Monro is spreading out toward Strumitza, where the encounters with Bulgarian patrols are reported.

With the arrival of Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, who should soon be on the scene, a further development in the campaign is expected, and it is possible that the Gallipoli army will become more active.

FAILED TO MURDER BUT SUCCEEDED AT SUICIDE

Petersburg Woman Tried to Kill Young Chauffeur

REVOLVER BULLET MISSED BRAIN

Mrs. Maud Baker Is Dead But Raymond Clark Is Not Seriously Wounded.

Mrs. Maud Gardner Baker of the village of Petersburg, Rensselaer county, attempted to kill Raymond Clark, twenty-one years old of Petersburg early last night and shot herself through the heart with a thirty-two caliber revolver which Clark owned.

Mrs. Gardner and Clark were riding in an automobile owned by Dr. Blyman of Berlin, by whom Clark was employed. According to the story Clark told Dr. S. P. Hull of Berlin, the woman had been talking all evening of her intention of "ending everything" but he had not paid much attention to her.

When they approached the top of what is known as the "Ans Sweet" hill in the town of Petersburg, he said, Mrs. Baker drew the revolver from under her coat, placed it against his head and fired. The bullet went through the top of his skull but did not touch the brain. He lost control of the machine and it went into a ditch.

Clark did not wait to see if the woman was injured but ran toward Petersburg. He said she followed and fired two shots at him. He outran her and reached Dr. Hull's office, a mile away, before she entered the village limits.

While he was telling his story to Dr. Hull a shot was heard and word was sent to the physician's office that Mrs. Baker had shot herself. Neighbors carried her into Dr. Hull's office but she was dead.

Mrs. Baker was married about five years ago to Edward Baker of Troy but they lived together only a short time. She went back to Berlin and resumed her maiden name of Maude Gardner and since has been known by that name. Persons in Petersburg last night said they did not believe Mrs. Baker had been divorced.

Mrs. Baker had been employed in the shirt factory in Petersburg and had done housework in the village for the last two years. Clark, whose father conducts the Petersburg hotel, has been out of school two years.

He has been employed by Dr. Blyman a year. He has a good reputation.

Dr. Hull said Clark is not seriously injured. The bullet entered his head above the left eye and came out on the upper left side.

Mrs. Baker lived with her widowed mother and a sister. It was at her mother's home she met Clark. She passed yesterday in Hoosick Falls and when she returned last night went to Clark's home and told his sister Clark wanted his revolver. Miss Clark gave it to her.

NOTICE TO DANCING CLASS

Class for Beginners Under 16 Years To Be Held Saturday Afternoon

The large number of registrations of young people under 16 years at both the Saturday and Tuesday night Social Dancing classes was quite unexpected as the classes were intended for older people. As there seems to be such a demand among the young boys and girls, most of whom are beginners, it has been decided to start a Saturday afternoon class for them alone. This plan has a number of decided advantages. The young people will have a much happier time in a group composed of those about their own age. The course of lessons will be carefully graded for beginners giving special attention to the fundamental steps in both the modern and round dances and the instructor will be able to give more individual attention to each pupil. Lastly this plan offers a class on a vacation afternoon which is much more suitable than an evening class for school children.

This class will be held every other Saturday afternoon starting next week with a nominal price of five cents per lesson and will be continued through the winter. After Thanksgiving a social evening will be provided on Friday nights for young people with match basket ball games followed by an hour of dancing. These will be open to all ages and will alternate with the Saturday afternoon class. Therefore, beginning this Saturday evening the evening class will be conducted for all people above 16 years of age. All those below this

EPISCOPAL BROAD PARTY DEFEATS DR. MANNING

Trinity Rector Rejected as Deputy to General Convention

HIGH CHURCHMAN REBUKED

Predicted that Scores of Clergymen Will Now Take Sides in Controversy.

New York, Nov. 11.—Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity, was defeated yesterday afternoon in the Diocesan Convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in new Synod Hall as a candidate for clerical deputy to the general convention.

This downfall was accomplished by the Broad church party as a rebuke for his activity as leader of the High Church element which last month attempted to compel the Board of Missions to rescind its decision to send delegates to the Panama Congress on Religious work.

His failure of election leaves the powerful parish of Trinity without representation at the General Convention. He is the first of its distinguished line of rectors to be beaten as a candidate for any office within the gift of the diocese. Search of the annals from the first General Convention in 1785 to the present does not reveal any action so drastic ever having grown out of the struggle between the High and Broad factions.

The issue is now so well defined in this diocese that it is predicted that scores of clergy who have maintained an indifferent attitude must declare themselves on one side or the other. The Rev. Dr. Manning in the last triennial convention in this city in 1913, was the chief champion of the proposal to change the name Protestant Episcopal to American Catholic Church. He is chairman of the committee on Faith and Orders, which is reaching out in every direction to bring Episcopalians into closer union with other faiths. As one of the foremost advocates of unity he has often taken part in services at the altars of the Eastern church.

ASQUITH DENIES KITCHENER RESIGNED

Upholds Suspension of Globe For Publishing Statement

PREMIER DEFENDS GOVERNMENT

Declares That Newspaper Disregarded Official Request and Repeated Offence.

London, Nov. 11.—During the course of a discussion in the House of Commons yesterday, on the suspension of the Globe newspaper, James Myles Hogg, member for East Edinburgh, declared his belief that the statement that Lord Kitchener had resigned was true and that the seizure of the paper because of the publication of the statement was not justified. Premier Asquith, who immediately replied, said that Mr. Hogg accused him of "a deliberate and inexcusable falsehood," and, to make the matter quite clear, he declared: "Earl Kitchener never tendered his resignation either to the king or to myself, the only two persons to whom he could have tendered it. Earl Kitchener never breathed a word of resignation to either."

The decision to send Lord Kitchener to the near East, the premier added, was taken by the cabinet on Thursday, November 4. Serious information, which led the government to take the decision, was brought to their knowledge for the first time on Wednesday. In the interests of public life he protested against the charge that the king was being directed against the head of the government, as these accusations were likely to be believed, to do incalculable harm to the country throughout the world. He repudiated the charge that the Globe had been singled out for special treatment.

Mr. Hogg and William M. R. Pringle, member for Northwest Lanarkshire, however, insisted that other papers, which were equally guilty, had not been proceeded against. Sir John Simon, home secretary, pointed out that the Globe was in an entirely different position from the other papers, in that it ignored the warning of the press bureau on Thursday night in the form of a request made to all the papers that no reference should be made of Earl Kitchener's movements until further notice. The next day the Globe, and the Globe alone, published the statement that Earl Kitchener had resigned because he had quarreled with his colleagues. When a denial was issued, the Globe repeated the statement, thus saying, in effect, that the government was lying.
